Mobile Device Management & Migration Services

Streamlining Information Technology is an important part of independent UK law firm Burges Salmon's approach to delivering an efficient service to its clients.

Combined with legal and sector expertise, Burges Salmon ensures that it innovates in areas that add real value to both its clients and its people.

In line with this strategy, Burges Salmon continues to optimise the Digital Employee Experience. Mobile phones play a critical part in carrying out tasks whilst on the move. With recent advances in technology the firm opted to move to a cost-effective Microsoft solution for securely managing corporate Mobile devices.

Burges Salmon selected Virtual Engine as the partner to perform the migration from the old Mobile Device Management product to Microsoft Intune device management with the Burges Salmon in-house team managing and maintaining the platform thereafter.

Throughout the migration process the Virtual Engine and Burges Salmon teams worked closely together to ensure that all the design decisions were incorporated and any changes in requirements swiftly adopted. The process was thoroughly tested in readiness for Burges Salmon to communicate with its people and arrange the move in a timely fashion.

"The team at Virtual Engine demonstrated excellent technical expertise to migrate our Mobile Device Management solution to Intune. The collaborative process that Virtual Engine uses gave our IT team confidence that the design met all the requirements, and with the least impact on our people."

Omar Charania – IT Applications Manager at Burges Salmon LLP

"We initially hesitated to migrate iPhone management to Intune due to concerns about the impact on our people. However, thanks to Virtual Engine's expert advice as a trusted partner, we successfully made the transition swiftly and seamlessly, minimising any disruption for our team."

*Lee Davey
Deputy Head of Technology and Operations at Burges Salmon LLP*

"Virtual Engine is delighted to continue working with Burges Salmon, where we can use our unique set of skills and experience to deliver what the firm requires by using innovation to evolve productivity."

Steve Whitfield, Sales Director, Virtual Engine
